3.7.2 For what purposes do GT collect, process and store your Personal Data as a jobseeker to GT?

- To be able to complete the recruitment process and hire you. GT process the Personal Data you share with us, such as your application and your references, and GT evaluate and select candidates in the process. Furthermore, in some cases GT collect health information, background checks and references. Sometimes health checks need to be done before employment and continuous health checks throughout the employment may occur in certain positions.
- To fulfil GT:s obligation under law or other statutes
- For recruitment administrative purposes
- For security and confidentiality issues,
- For quality works and for statistical purposes.
- For possible recruitment of you in the future (which require your consent)

3.7.3 How do GT gain access to your Personal Data as a jobseeker?

Most of the Personal Data that GT process about you is collected when you are applying for a job at GT and when we contact your references. GT only ask for your Personal Data that GT needs to have in order to fulfil the recruitment process. Personal Data that you provide GT and that GT do not need for any of the purposes that we process personal information for is deleted promptly. If we tend to keep your Personal Data during a longer time we will ask for your permission. If GT process such information about you to any other extent than described in this Privacy Policy, GT will ensure that we are entitled to do so by law and that you are informed of the processing.

3.7.4 On what legal basis do GT process your Personal Data as a jobseeker?

- GT process your Personal Data in order to perform our obligations both in relation to you as a jobseeker and in relation to you as a member of the public.
- The jobseeker's participation in a personality test due to consent.
- Processing of the Personal Data of the jobseeker in a competence database due to consent
- Saving the jobseeker's Personal Data after the application procedure has been completed due to consent.
- Collecting information on social media about the jobseeker due to legitimate interest. GT's interest in collecting information on social media about the jobseeker in an ongoing recruitment process outweighs the individual's integrity. GT intends not to collect more information than is necessary for this purpose. Collection only takes place from social media accounts that are linked to the jobseeker's professional role.
- Collecting information about the jobseeker from references due to legitimate interest. GT's interest in collecting information from references about the jobseeker in an ongoing recruitment process outweighs the individual's integrity. GT will only collect such information from the references which is necessary to be able to make a decision in the recruitment issue.
- As regards GT's processing of your Personal Data (e.g. video tape of you) for video surveillance of the office space when you are visiting our office it is based on legitimate interest, i.e. our interest in preventing and aggravating crimes by videotaping the visitors at the office outweighs the interest of those visitors in not having their Personal Data processed for this purpose.

3.8 Information about your use of the Products etc

In addition to the information you provide to GT, we may also collect information about your use of the Products on your device in other ways. GT may, for example, collect:

- Log information:

These Personal Data we register for GT's and our customers', visitors, shareholders and job seekers safety. This information is used only to detect and counter irregularities and sabotage as well as in case of serious suspicion of unfair or criminal behaviour or a serious suspicion of using the IT equipment in violation of the GT's rules.

GT is logging in the following situations for security reasons:

- logging when you are using the customer portal or any other of our service
- logging your e-mail
- logging when you as a customer are connecting to a network
- video surveillance of the office (when you're visiting our office)

GT also collect data for statistical purposes through the Google Analytics service or similar systems (system created by ourselves or by other such as AppFlyer, Microsoft etc) such as when and for how long you use the Products, search terms you enter by the Products, and all information stored in cookies that we have installed on your device for the purpose of facilitating the functionality of the web pages.

- Geographical information

When using the Google Analytics service or similar system, the region and country of the IP address are retrieved for statistical purposes.

- Other information

Other information about your use of the Products, such as the programs and services you use, and how you interact with content offered through a GT Product for the purpose of developing our Products and to determine how we will further develop and prioritise our Products internally.

3.9 Information from third party sources

GT can receive information about you from public and private actors (in accordance with laws and regulations) which we can combine with other data we receive from or about you. GT may also receive information about you from third party social networking services when you choose to connect to such services.

4. Automated decision making

Automated decisions in accordance with GDPR mean that the decisions are determined without any manual human impact. GT makes decisions about you based on automated decision-making when you are using GT's products. GT determines for example when using the app the distance of your driving and driving behaviour with automated processes through AI. This information might be the foundation of the deciding of your insurance premium. You have the right to contact us in case you are not satisfied with such an automatic decision.

5. For how long time does GT store your Personal Data?

GT will only store your Personal Data for as long as we need to provide our Services and Products to you and no longer than permitted under GDPR regarding the storage and screening of Personal Data or as evident from any statutory obligation to store the information for a longer period of time. GT continuously evaluates the length of time required for different types of data. When Personal Data is no longer needed, GT will delete or anonymize your data. You withhold the right to contact us if you don't want your Personal Data to be used for direct marketing by contacting us on info@greaterthan.eu.

6. What are "cookies" and how does GT use them?

A cookie is a small text file containing a unique identification number that is transferred from a website to the hard drive of your computer. This unique number identifies your web browser to GT's computers whenever you visit GT's websites.

The use of cookies is an industry standard, and cookies are currently used on most major websites. Most web browsers are initially set up to accept cookies. If you prefer, you can reset your browser to notify you when you have received a cookie. You can also set your browser to refuse to accept cookies altogether.

While GT does not require you to use cookies, keep in mind that certain services will not function properly if you set your browser to refuse all cookies. To help serve you better, GT generally uses cookies to identify return visitors. Cookies let us remember your web browser so we can provide personalized Services. Cookies also allow us to identify GT members who are returning to the site.

For more information about how we use cookies on the GT's websites, please see our Cookie Policy.

7. Is there any transfer of your Personal Data to third parties?

7.1 GT will not sell, exchange or license any Personal Data about you beyond what is being stated in this Privacy Policy, if we are not obliged by law due to a demand by a governmental agency, court decision or if we received your consent to do so. Companies belonging to the GT Group may process Personal Data in accordance with General Data Protection legislation and for the purposes stated in this Privacy Policy. Your Personal Data will be handled by authorized personnel within the GT Group to the extent required for the processing. The Personal Data will never be available to all employees of GT, but only to a limited number of authorized persons who need access to the Personal Data to perform their tasks. GT also use external parties to help us process your Personal Data on our behalf (Personal Data processor). When GT hire Personal Data processors, we always ensure by agreement that your Personal Data is protected in an appropriate manner and processed in accordance with current data protection legislation.

7.2 By using the Services and Products your Personal Data may be collected, processed, stored and transferred by GT to the following authorities, partners and suppliers:

- Insurance companies and other partners: GT may need to share your information with insurance companies and other partners to GT in order to provide our Services and Products to you.
- Social Media: Such as Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, Twitter etc. If you contact GT via social media your personal information will also be collected and processed by these companies, in accordance with their data protection information.
- Service providers and subcontractors: GT have a number of service providers in order for our activity to function. Suppliers and subcontractors of GT are companies that only have the right to process the personal data they receive from GT on behalf of GT, so-called personal data processors. Examples of such suppliers and subcontractors are cloud service companies within Europe (Microsoft), suppliers of financial systems, accounting and bookkeeping companies, software and data storage providers, payment service providers, companies protecting our systems and services and business consultants.
- Banks and payment service providers: Payment service providers and banks provide services to you and GT to carry out and administer electronic payments through a variety of payment methods, such as credit cards and bank-based payment methods such as direct debit and bank transfer
- Analytics Services: When you use Analytics Services, your personal information will be shared with Google.
- Debt collection companies: GT may need to share personal information when we sell, or give orders to collect, overdue unpaid debts with a debt collection company.
- Advertising partners: For example, our ad partners which help us facilitate tailored advertising: This is when we use third party information to tailor ads to be more relevant to you (also known as interest based advertising).
- Marketing Partners: To promote GT with our partners. We share some personal data with these partners where necessary to enable you to participate in GT promotions, including trials or other bundled offers, to promote GT in media and advertising published on other online services, to help us and our partners to measure the effectiveness of GT promotions such as marketing or sponsorship partners.

- Other partner sharing: We may share personal data with partners within different areas to help us understand and improve the performance of our business, products and partnerships.
- Recruitment companies: When you apply for a work at GT we may share your personal data with recruitment companies.
- Academic researchers: For activities such as statistical analysis and academic study, but only in a pseudonymised format. Pseudonymised data is where your data is identified by a code rather than your name or other information that directly identifies you.
- Companies within GT Group. GT has subsidiaries and offices in other countries such as UK, Singapore, USA, Japan etc. GT may disclose personal data to these subsidiaries and vice versa.
- Authorities and financial institutions: GT may provide necessary information to authorities such as the stock market, banks, IMY, the Swedish Tax Authority or other authorities.
- Law enforcement and other authorities: GT may need to share personal data with courts and other authorities to comply with a legal obligation, to respond to a valid legal process (such as a search warrant, court order, or subpoena) for our own or a third party's justifiable interest, relating to: national security, law enforcement, litigation (a court case), criminal investigation, protecting someone's safety, preventing death or imminent bodily harm.
- Purchasers of GT:s business: Where GT sell or negotiate to sell its business to a buyer or possible buyer. In this situation, GT will continue to ensure that your personal data is kept confidential. We'll give you notice before your personal data is transferred to the buyer or a different privacy policy starts to apply.

7.3 GT ensures that an adequate level of protection as per the applicable Personal Data legislation is fulfilled upon such transfer of Personal Data to another country and/or organisation. To the extent that GT transfers Personal Data to a non-EU country which, according to the European Commission, does not achieve an adequate level of protection, GT will ensure that the transfer is subject to applicable model clauses or standard safeguards regulations adopted by the European Commission. This also applies, where applicable, to transfer to any Personal Data processor, who processes Personal Data for the purposes stated in this Privacy Policy on behalf of GT.

7.4 Except as provided in this Privacy Policy, GT will not transfer your Personal Data to other third parties.

7.5 GT maintains strict physical, electronic and administrative security measures to protect your Personal Data in accordance with applicable rules. This means that GT regularly review their security and screening policies for the processing of the Personal Data.

8. How does GT protects your Personal Data?

GT takes the necessary and appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect your Personal Data and ensure that General Data Protection regulation are complied with in the handling of your Personal Data. The security measures GT use may include access control, logging, physical security in datahalls, use of firewalls, pseudonymization, encryption, detailed instructions and training for personnel concerning the protection of Personal Data and careful consideration when choosing service providers who process the Personal Data on our behalf. Your information is stored in our protected IT systems and networks. Access is restricted to authorized personnel only.

9. Who is responsible for the information you provide to third parties, the use of social media etc?

- 9.1 The information you choose to disclose to third parties is not covered by GT´s Privacy Policy. You are responsible for the information that you provide to third parties such as on LinkedIn, Facebook and Twitter.
- 9.2 Some of GT's Services may be accessed through third party services and platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Google and LinkedIn. You should be aware that GT has no control over, nor is responsible for, the processing of Personal Data by such third parties. GT's Services may also contain links to third party services or websites. If you use such links, you leave GT's Services. GT has no control over such third party services or websites (nor their content), nor is it in any way responsible for these.
- 9.3 GT can provide features that allow you to share information in your social networks and interact with us.

10. Your right to withdraw your consent

- 10.1 If you have given your consent for GT's Personal Data processing, you have the right to withdraw your consent (but not retroactively) at any time for the processing of your Personal Data. To this end, it is sufficient to send an email to: info@greatherthan.eu
- 10.2 Once you have withdrawn your consent, GT will only use the information that have to be processed to provide the Services and we will refrain from any other processing.
- 10.3 You also have the right to request that we remove any Personal Data that may be linked to you as a natural person by destroying or disidentifying them.

11. Changes to this Privacy Policy

GT reserves the right to make changes and/or additions to this Privacy Policy from time to time. For example if applicable law changes or if we change our Products in a way that affects our processing of your Personal Data. Information about any changes and/or additions will be notified to you via our website; <https://greaterthan.eu/about-us/legal/policy-archive/>.

12. Your rights

- Right of access - You have the right of access to your Personal Data, which means that you have the right to receive confirmation from GT of whether your Personal Data is processed and if so you also have the right to access to your Personal Data at GT by so-called register extracts.
- Right to correction - You have the right to get your Personal Data corrected or supplemented by GT.
- Right to delete - You have the right to have your Personal Data deleted, if
  - the Personal Data are no longer necessary for the purposes for which they are processed,
